

For IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Steinger, Iscoe & Greene* Employees and Partners Rally Backpacks and School Supplies to meet the need of a local charity and its kids

West Palm Beach, Florida Aug 3, 2009-- It would appear to be business as usual at the law offices of Steinger, Iscoe & Greene this Monday, however there is more on the agenda than cases, clients and the practice of law. Today there are children in need whose resources are dramatically waning while the need is ever increasing. The need became abundantly clear when members of the West Palm Beach office read this Sunday's Palm Beach Post's article, "Palm Beach County Budget Cuts could put Some Kids with Nowhere to Go Back on the Street" - Sunday Aug 2, 2009.

Word spread quickly amongst Steinger, Iscoe & Greene partners and staff about the need of Urban Youth Impact as highlighted in the article. Through a spirit of volunteerism and commitment to community service within the firm, (Steinger, Iscoe & Greene had contributed to Urban Youth Impact's 2008 Back 2School BLAST in July and Community Christmas Carnival in December), this year they realized more was needed.

In a matter of hours Steinger, Iscoe & Greene's West Palm Beach office had over 30 backpacks fully stocked with age-appropriate school supplies ready to be given to the children of UYI families this Saturday, August 8th at the annual Back2School BLAST at UYI's Dream Center. Where once the firm may have volunteered, it became abundantly clear in the Sunday article that what Urban Youth Impact and so many other non-profits need now are the financial resources to continue their work for the underserved in our community. "When it comes down to it, everything we do is about helping people. Whether they are clients of the firm or children and families in our community, Steinger, Iscoe & Greene 's reason for being is to help those in need," commented Co-Founding partner, Gary T. Iscoe. "We realized the gravity of Urban Youth Impact's need and we, not just the partners but our entire staff, are doing what we can to make a difference. We are people helping people. It's just that simple."
